Vishinsky Assails US Policy

U. S. Delegate Austin States the Talk is 'Repetition Of The Big Lie'

By Tom Ochiltree

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 2 —(AP)— Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged today the eight-nation U.N. resolution on Korea constituted "direct aggression" against the people of that country and was designed to cast a mantle of legality on American intervention there.

In a policy speech before the UN assembly's political committee the Soviet foreign minister promised to put in a resolution of his own to counter the measure under debate. He said the eight-nation proposal was designed to perpetuate the occupation of all of Korea by foreign forces and added:

"When will they get out? Well, perhaps when the mountains are level with the sea."

U. S. chief delegate Warren R. Austin said in a statement outside the committee that Vishinsky's accusations were merely "repetitions of the big lie.". He predicted Vishinsky's charges would have no effect because "rotten wood cannot be carved nor walls of sand be plastered."

Vishinsky explained that his proposal would call for halting of American bombings. This same proposal has been beaten down in the security council. He said a companion Soviet proposal calling for the disbandment of the present UN commission in Korea also would be presented because that commission "acted unobjectively" and failed to carry out its mission.

The American-supported proposal which Vishinsky attacked calls for United Nations aid and supervision of the pacification, unification and rehabilitaton of the whole of Korea. It also calls for a new UN commssion with broad powers to help reorganize the political and economic life of the war-torn country.

Blames South Korea

In an hour and a half speech Vishinsky made these claims:

1. South Korea rather than North Korea was responsible for touching off the conflict, and American authorities encouraged South Koreans in this war.

2. The Korean conflict is a civil war in which the UN has no right to intervene.

3. The United States and Britain misled the UN in the Korean case with the result that UN organs took illegal and mistaken decisions.

4. UN decisions serve to cover up illegal American intervention in Korea, and the United States "applied pressure on countries economically dependent" on America for Marshall plan aid to get backing in the United Nations.

Defense For Line

Referring to U. S. chief delegate Warren R. Austin's statement Saturday that the 38th parallel is an imaginery line, Vishinsky declared: "If that is so, there is no such thing as two states."

Vishinsky said on June 19 John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, told Rhee the United States would aid South Korea's fight against Communism. Dulles, he added, was following an old tune of the warmongers — "The world be destroyed along with Communism."

The only thing in doubt was the time the attack was to be launched Vishinsky said. He added: "Now we know the H-hour —daybreak June 25."

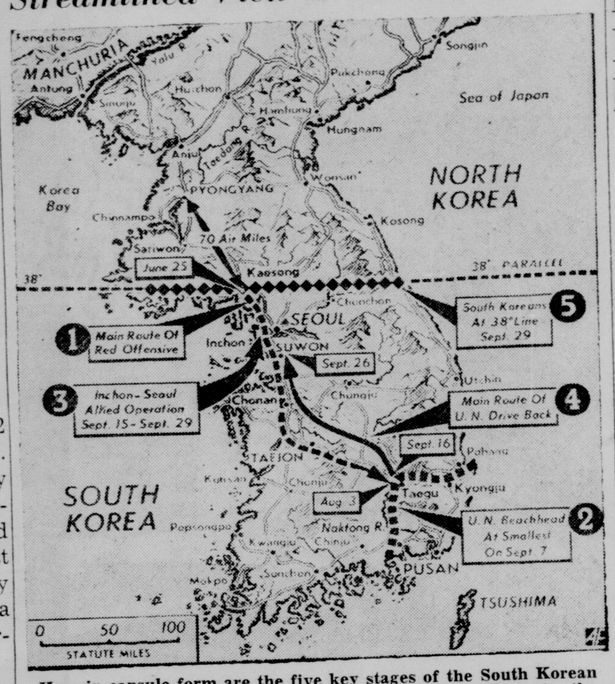

Vishinsky said 10 South Korean divisions were concentrated on the 38th parallel and numerous incidents were fomented on that dividing line between North and South Korea. He asserted a purge took place in the South Korean army and declared 400,000 houses were burned down and "numerous persons were exterminated" by the South Korean police.

The description of events in Korea by the British-American bloc "is misleading an dthis distortion of facts led various organs of the UN to make mistakes," Vishinsky said. "We cannot tolerate such a distortion of facts under which a state lumps together many things and calls it aggression."

He then repeated the Soviet claim that the Korean conflict is a civil war. He asked if Austin would be prepared to call the American civil war a northern aggression against the south.

"Would the United States have taken a bright view of armed intervention by France and Britain?" he asked. "I don't think Mr. Austin would go so far as to say that, but then I might expect anything from Mr. Austin in an attempt to prove his point."

Streamlined View of Korean War

Here in capsule form are the five key stages of the South Korean war—from its inception and the Reds' original drive, to the present situation with South Korean troops waiting at the 38th parallel for a crossing which was made in the vicinity of Yongyang.

Planes 'Capture' 150 Korean Reds

TOKYO, Oct. 2—(AP)—Two unarmed observation planes "captured" 150 Red Koreans and six trucks today while dropping surrender leaflets.

Flying low in their T-6s, the pilots spotted the Reds north of Kunsan and dropped the leaflets. The Communists gathered them up and assembled with their hands up around some trucks. A small Second division infantry patrol rounded up the Reds.

One of the pilots was Lt. William J. Sims of Dothan, Ala. The other pilot's name was not available.

Bus Service to Cross Bridge

Commuters in Large Numbers Take Long Walk

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2—(AP) —Bridge out!

And you ought to see the commuters who once drove quickly across the Missouri river bridge here. Now they're legging it.

It will only last through Wednesday. By that night the State Highway Department figures it will have repairs finished on the south section of the span.

Now the folks from north of the river drive as close as possible, park where the State Highway Patrol directs, then hoof it over the bridge.

Bus passengers get it a little better. Their vehicles can drive over most of the span and stop. The passengers then negotiate a short catwalk around the rapair work and climb into other buses at the south end.

Everybody is taking the three-day stoppage of vehicular traffic as a big lark, the highway department reported.

Of course, tourists are warned miles away by signs and information booths on how to get around the roadblock. The closest bridges over the river now are at Hermann on the east and at Boonville on the west.

Several state employes who make the crossing twice a day said they "kinda enjoyed it." But today was one of those beautiful fall days, warm and with an invigorating breeze.

"It won't be near as nice if it rains," one commuter said reflectively.

There was a little argument, too, over a planned bus service from the community north of the bridge to the span itself. Ray Brummet, operator of an aircraft company at the Jefferson City airfield, was running a shortline shuttle service for passengers—right up to the bridge. He was acting with the blessing of the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce.

But other folks in the area figured he was on the way to "making a fortune," Brummet said. They complained to the highway department that Brummet was getting special privileges.

So that was the end of that and most commuters thereafter had to walk up to a mile to cross the bridge.

Brummet estimated 500 to 600 persons crossed the bridge between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning.

Gen. Walker Says 'Freedom is Worth Price We Have to Pay'

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

Now that the Red invasion of South Korea has been smashed by U.N. forces—principally those of America—just what does this costly operation mean to us?

That is to say, why should the United States send its soldiers to the other side of the world to defend—and even die for—a people so strange to us? What reason have we to risk a major war by intervening in the crisis of this small peninsula?

Well, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. eighth army commander in Korea, gave us one answer a few days ago. He declared the victory worth the price, saying it would mean "a free and untrammeled society for all Koreans, with the dignity of the individual fully restored." And he added:

"Human freedom is always worth the price we have to pay for it."

That's the idealistic, the altruistic viewpoint. It certainly is part of the picture, but we have to look a lot further to get the complete picture.

American self-defense entered into the situation, and in a very big way.

Priority to Military on Production

Final Touches Being Given For Defense Pattern

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—The defense production pattern begins to take shape today. Production goals are set in the steel, oil, rubber and aluminum industries. Military orders will be given priority in all industries. Allocations are drafted for at least one industry, synthetic rubber. Final touches are being put to rules to curb housing credit.

The steel industry moves to forestall any entry of the government into the business by increasing its previous plant expansion plans by 50 per cent—all to be built by the companies themselves without the government having a hand in it.

Some of the expansion of steel mill capacity will be in the traditional steel centers—Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cleveland, Birmingham. But important new mills are going up on the east coast, and the west coast—at Morrisville, Pa., on the Delaware; at Fontana, Calif. Expansion has been underway on the Texas gulf coast.

Increase for Steel

Steel capacity is now just above 100 million tons a year. The industry had planned to bring that to 106.3 million tons by the end of 1952. But at the request of the government, plans were overhauled and a new goal of 107 million ton capacity by the end of next year and just under 110 million tons by the end of 1952.

What this means in military potential is shown in the estimate by H. G. Batcheller, chairman of the board of Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., that the steel-making capacity of Russia and her satellites is only 30 million tons a year.

But even with the steel industry expecting to turn out around 95 million tons this year (it didn't work at capacity during the coal strike last winter), it is still falling behind the growing civiian demand.

Some steel users say their steel quotas have been cut by the mills as much as 25 per cent for October. Military orders so far are small, but may be expected to pick up soon—and will have the blessing of priority.

Aluminum production, which is now four times as big as it was 10 years ago, is expected to top its 1948 peacetime record of 1.2 billion pounds. The wartime record was 1.8 billion pounds in 1943. Production could be pushed, if expense is no deterrent, to equal the wartime pace.

Synthetic rubber is to be allocated among the rubber companies. This is the second step in this industry to assure plenty of rubber for military needs. The first was to limit the amount of all new rubber, both natural and synthetic, which can be used. The government, meanwhile, continues to build up its stockpile of rubber, and to increase production of synthetic in its war-built plants.

Boost Arms Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—The National Production Authority tonight will issue a priority order harnessing industry to the $30,000,000,000 a year military preparedness program.

The regulation reportedly will require every plant to accept military orders and fill them on time—ahead of any civilian work waiting for a place on the production line.

Prime contractors making planes, tanks and other munitions will be able to pass on the priority to subcontractors and supplies clear back to the mill and mine, officials predicted.

The regulation will be the agency's second compulsory order governing business. Two weeks ago an inventory control edict made it illegal to hoard 32 scarce defense materials.

The arms program got another boost last night when Secretary of Commerce Sawyer announced a 9,400,000-ton expansion of the steel industry, to be achieved by the end of 1952.

This increase, nearly ten per cent beyond the present annual capacity of 100,563,000 tons, was described by Sawyer as "an encouraging demonstration of the willingness of industry to forge ahead."

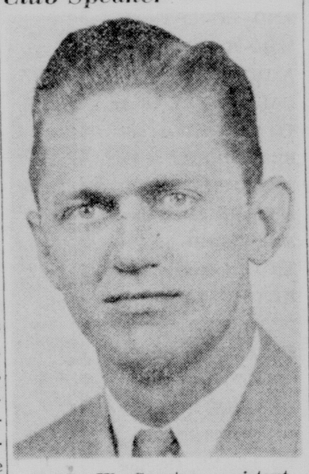

Artists For Concert Season

The artists to be presented by the Community Concert Association for which season tickets were recently sold have been selected.

The first program to be presented will be by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra on November 27.

The latter part of January Denis Harbour, baritone, will be presented in concert and on March 7 will be the Svetlova Dancers.

Credit is Run Up to Hit an All-Time High

Record Figure of $20,979,000,000 Before Control

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The American buying public ran its credit tab to an all-time high of $20,979,000,000 in August, the federal reserve board reported.

The record figure for consumer credit was reached a month before the government put on controls to slow down installment-plan buying.

Debt incurred by time-buying alone accounted for $13,015,000,000 of the overall total, and itself stood at a new high itself as a result of the rush for war-enhanced goods.

Overall consumer credit jumped $614,000,000 in August after an unprecedented $660,000,000 increase in July. Installment credit increased $411,000,000 in August, compared with July's $500,000,000 record.

On September 18 the Federal Reserve Board reimposed controls on installment credit. On autos, it required a one-third down payment and 21-month payoff, and on major appliances 15 per cent down and an 18-month payoff.

The August rise was spurred by the post-Korea buying rush, which quieted down in the latter part of the month.

Indications are that both total consumer credit and installment-plan debt for September will show new record highs again.

March of 30 Miles By South Koreans Into Sector of Reds

Demand From MacArthur Thus Far Ignored as To a Surrender

By Russell Brines

TOKYO, Oct. 2 —(AP)— South Koreans ripped 30 miles into Soviet satellite Red Korea today almost unopposed.

Nearly two divisions — about 20,000 solely Korean troops—made the advance while their United Nations Allies remained south of parallel 38.

A third South Korean division was poised to jump across the artificial border.

American liaison officers said resistance was very light. Indications were that the going would get tougher, however. Captured Red prisoners said the Communists were preparing to make a stand some 70 miles north of 38.

Neighboring Red China made threatening noises but there was no further indication that the Chinese Communists might intervene to save North Korea from unity with the republic.

The South Koreans' drive was launched Sunday along the east coast and carried nearly halfway to the line where the Red prisoners said the North Koreans were building up for a list-ditch stand.

This line runs roughly across the Korean peninsula at its narrowest point 70 miles north of 38. It stretches from Wonsan on the Sea of Japan through the Red Pyongyang capital area to the Yellow sea.

Marines Push North

American Marines in the west were driving north toward the border but were not reported on it at any point.

General MacArthur and his top commanders maintained silence on the border crossing. A spokesman said the campaign was too delicate both militarily and politically to be discussed. First reports of the crossing and 30 mile penetration came from field dispatches.

The Reds ignored MacArthur's Sunday surrender ultimatum. It was broadcast hourly in four Korean dialects and showered across North Korea in millions of air-dropped leaflets.

North Korea determined to fight to the death. The big mystery was: Would Communist China, with thousands of troops reported massed on the border of Soviet-dominated Manchuria, now march south to aid her Red neighbor.

Chou En-Lai, Red China's premier, made a bristling week-end broadcast from Peping. Chou said Red China's half billion people will not "supinely tolerate her neighbors being savagely invaded by the imperialists."

He did not mention North Korea by name in this section of an 11,000 word speech commemorating the first anniversary of the Red regime in China.

But elsewhere in the talk Chou said China was following the Korea events closely.

Claim of Invasion

Chou's military commander-in-chief, Gen. Chu Teh, warned Sunday in an order of the day:

"American imperialism is now carrying out an armed invasion of China's neighbor, Korea, and in collaboration with remnant Chiang Kai-shek brigands has openly invaded China's territory, Taiwan

Canada Dollar Finding Level

Unpegging Has Little Effect in U. S. At Once

By the Associated Press

The Canadian dollar, cut loose over the week-end to find its own level, gained three to nearly six cents in terms of the United States dollar in world money markets.

In New York, most quotations were around 93 ¾ cents to the U.S. dollar, compared with the former official rate of 91 cents and the closing rate Friday of 90 7/8s.

However, New York quotations ranged up to 94 5/8 and down to 93 cents, and there were very few transactions as traders waited for the Canadian currency to stabilize.

In Montreal, the Canadian dollar fluctuated between 93 and 95 cents in U.S. funds in early trading.

The Bank of England announced new Canadian dollar rates in London that were the equivalent of 96.6 cents in U.S. currency compared with 90.7 cents last week.

The Canadian government, acting Saturday when transactions were suspended for the week-end, removed its control over the exchange rate for the first time since 1939.

The action came as Canada's gold and U.S. dollar reserves reached an all-time high and after a wave of U.S. speculative buying of Canadian dollars and internal bonds payable in Canadian dollars.

The unpegging of the Canadian dollar is not expected to have much immediate effect on the consumer in the United States. The American price structure will continue to be the principal factor determining the prices of goods bought from or sold to Canada, and prices are expected to remain in general just about where they have been in U.S. money.

An exception to this may be newsprint, the paper which newspapers are printed on. It may now be raised in price. More than 80 per cent of newsprint used in the United States comes from Canada, and its price is quoted in U.S. dollars delivered in New York. The new higher rate for the Canadian dollar will mean that Canadian newsprint producers will receive less Canadian money for their product than under the old official exchange rate, and yet their costs of production will remain where they were in terms of Canadian money.

With a lowered profit margin, the producers may now raise the price of newsprint. They did this in July, 1946, when the value of the Canadian dollar was officially changed from 91 cents to $1.00 in U.S money. Then when the Canadian dollar was again officially revalued at 91 cents, they declined to lower newsprint prices, pleading that higher production costs made it unfeasible.

Whether newsprint prices are raised probably will be determined by the level to which the Canadian dollar finally rises under the free exchange.

Garbage Collection to Be Once a Week

Sedalia's garbage collection, effective today, will be collected once a week instead of twice a week as is done through the late spring and summer months. Willis Jabas, sanitary officer, announced the change this morning.

The collection of garbage has always been one collection a week through the winter months, and starts on May 1 of each year with the twice a week collection.

Pall of Death Hangs Heavy Over Taejon

Bodies of 1,000 Massacred Have Already Been Found

TAEJON, KOREA, Oct. 2—(AP) —The pall of death hangs heavily over this town of rubbled tile and tin.

Already the bodies of 1,100 massacred Korean civilians have been found. Nearly 700 were in and around a Franciscan monastery.

Some authorities say 5,000 to 6,000 persons may have been killed by North Korean security police Wednesday and Thursday.

Among the dead were 30 American soldiers. It is feared 13 more may be buried in a trench not yet completely uncovered.

There were three known survivors of the slaughter—two Americans and one South Korean. One of the Americans died since.

Lt. Robert W. Shultice, Norfolk, Va., said both Americans and the South Koreans were buried alive, but only lightly. They were discovered as they struggled through the dirt for air. Shultice is investigating the atrocities for the Judge Advocate General.

The Americans were tied by their wrists to dead men. All of the slain were bound arm to arm.

Seeing this stung the imagination. It was no mad orgy. There was no wild machine-gunning. It was a coldly calculated massacre. Each man had been shot individually. Many apparently were clubbed to make sure they were dead. One man had a hatchet sticking from his skull.

The surviving local citizens say the South Korean dead were known anti - Communists, the wealthy, relatives of soldiers, national police and their relatives.

Some were shot, according to the residents, because they offended the police in some minor way—or because they had earned more money than their fellow citizens.

They said the shooting was to make others fearful of cooperating with the South Koreans or Americans against the day the Reds might return.

The story of these atrocities began unfolding five days ago. A few minutes after the victorious U. S. 24th division recaptured Taejon, excited South Koreans began telling of mass murder.

First, the trench containing the GIs was found in the rear of the west Taejon police station. Later that night, a patrol entered the Teajon prison and found 400 civilians posed in death in every imagionable position of agony.

Now this. A former French Canadian monastery is a temple of death—a huge grave surmounted by a desecrated cross.

How many South Koreans are sprawled in the basement of the catherdal, no one knows. A good guess would be 100.

I could not force myself into the basement, past the tangle of arms and legs and the smell of the dead.

Shultice said two long trenches near the place where the 700 were found will be uncovered tomorrow. It is almost certain both trenches contain bodies. Some of the dirt is bloodstained.

The church itself is unusable. Every sacred image has been destroyed.

Congressman Brehm Says He Gave Kickback Money to GOP Campaign Committee

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Last week it was revealed that GOP Congressman Walter Brehm of Millersport, Ohio, had been taking salary kickbacks from Mrs. Clara Soliday, a 70-year-old lady who worked in his office from 1945 to 1948.

During that time Mrs. Soliday kept $200 a month for herself and paid the balance of her government salary—around $300 a month—back to the Congressman. This is illegal.

Now, additional and highly significant facts have come to light which may make the Congressman's violation of the law even more serious.

The FBI, in investigating Mr. Brehm's kickback arrangement, talked to Ray Soliday, son of Mrs. Soliday, who sometimes carried the kickback money to the Congressman. Because of the FBI investigation, Congressman Brehm went to young Soliday and urged him to tell the FBI the same story he (Brehm) had told the FBI—namely, that he had paid the kickback money to the Republican campaign committee in the 11th congressional district of Ohio.

Brehm also wanted Soliday to agree that the money kicked back amounted to only $1,200 during the three years his mother worked for him. Soliday refused. Actually the total amount kicked back is nearer $10,000.

However, the amazing thing is the Congressman's explanation that the money was contributed to the Republican committee in Ohio, because such a contribution is a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

Money paid to a Congressman for clerical hire is paid by the taxpayers to help him serve his constituents back home and operate his office efficiently. It is not paid him for his personal use or to help out any campaign fund or party treasury.

It will be interesting to see what, if anything, the Justice department does with this one.

Truman's Critic

Explanation which the White House inner circle has put out regarding the President's intemperate tirade against the Marine Corps is that he thought the man he was writing to—GOP Congressman Gordon McDonough of California—was an old artillery comrade of World War I.

However, the President, even now, probably doesn't realize how badly he was mistaken.

This column, wanting to know in what artillery unit Congressman McDonough served, telephoned the Congressman's office. In his congressional biography, McDonough carefully lists his sons' war records, but says nothing about his own. So I decided to get some details on his artillery service. The lady who answered the phone, however, didn't seem to understand the question.

"What was the Congressman's outfit in the first war?" she was asked.

"Oh, the Congressman's family have a great war record," she replied. "He had five sons in World War II."

"Yes, but I wanted to know about his own record. What was his artillery unit?"

"Well, he had three sons in the Navy—Gordon Jr., Thomas and James. . ."

"Yes, but what I am interested in is the artillery unit in which the Congressman himself served."

The secretary still ducked the question, still wanted to talk about the Congressman's children.

Later in the day and after repeated calls to the office of the Republican gentleman from California, it became apparent why his office was ducking. The Congressman, though raising cain with Truman and though of the right military age in World War I, simply did not serve. He was busy, his office explained, working in a war plant.

Tax Evasion

On Dec. 16, 1949, this column began publication of a series of income-tax exposes showing how political pull had permitted big taxpayers to escape prosecution for income-tax evasion. One of these exposes showed how two Alabama businessmen, Joseph Mitchell and Sam Ripps, had made more than a million dollars selling G.I. jewelry to Army PX's during the war and cheated the government out of about half a million dollars of income taxes.

Most significant part of the story was how Ripps and Mitchell had paid $12,000 to Ben Leader of Birmingham, Ala., former law partner of the U.S. attorney, John Hill, who was scheduled to try their case.

Although the Treasury department had recommended criminal prosecution, and though the Justice department sent the case to Birmingham for prosecution, U.S. Attorney Hill and Justice department attorneys later decided not to try the case. At the time this column published the facts, Dec. 16, 1949, the case was dead and its file was officially stamped "closed."

Plea of Guilty

However, this writer was able to dig up and publish further facts in the case showing how Mitchell and Ripps followed a system of letting their small checks and cash accumuate. Then, when a large check came in for PX jewelry, they deposited the accumulated small checks and cash to the same amount of the big check, to make it appear that the big check had been cashed. Actually the big check was converted to a cashier's check and sent by roundabout way through the Jefferson Investment Co., of St. Louis, controlled by Mitchell, to the Paramount Check Cashing Company in New York.

When these and other facts were published the Justice department reopened the case transferring it away from U.S. Attorney Hil. in Birmingham.

All this was nearly one year ago.

Last week, Ripps and Mitchell walked into court and pled guilty. U.S. Judge John McDuffie sentenced them to two and a half and three years respectively. And the U.S. attorney in Birmingham, who incidentally issued vigorous denials when my first column was published, had staunchly maintained that it would be impossible to get a conviction.

Grass-Roots Senator

It hasn't been announced yet, but Sen. John C. Stennis, the conscientious Mississippi freshman, has a unique plan to bring democracy to the grass roots.

Within two weeks, Senator Stennis will hold open forums twice a day throughout Mississippi and continue this until Congress convenes again in November. At each meeting the tall, courtly ex-judge will invite questions from the audience and answer them. On this tour the Senator will appear in half the state's counties; then complete his state appearances during the next senatorial holiday.

There is no hidden political angle in the plan. Mississippi's Democratic primaries were held this summer, and Senator Stennis' term does not expire until 1953. He just wants to hear from the rank and file of the voters.

Blame For Poor Anti-Red Bill Falls on Truman And Congress

By Bruce Biossat

Not since the Taft-Hartley Act became law has Congress put through so controversial a measure as the Anti-Subversive Act recently adopted over the President's veto.

Mr. Truman devoted 5000 words to telling the lawmakers why he believed it was bad. Many critics labeled it a patchwork of repressive features dangerous to democratic freedoms.

But Congress was in a highly troubled mood and wouldn't be denied. The House didn't even bother to read Mr. Truman's message before overriding his veto. The Senate did debate 24 hours, but then followed suit. Some observers said Congress would have voted for almost any sort of Red-control bill.

Everyone is agreed, however, that some phases of the legislation are sound. Clauses aimed at tightening espionage and sabotage laws, extending the statute of limitations from three to ten years on spying, authorizing internment of dangerous Reds in wartime, all are valuable and necessary.

On the other hand, the registration provision is of highly questionable worth. It compels all Reds and Communist front organizations to register with the government. But if the Communists defy it or take advantage of its elaborate appeals machinery, this system could produce a welter of litigation and tie up the FBI in endless chasing harmful to its other responsibilities.

Some critics say the lawmakers didn't even read the anti-Red bill. Maybe not, but the fact is the registration clause, at least, is old stuff. It was a prime element in the Mundt-Nixon bill passed by the House two years ago, and the idea has been kicking around all that time.

Mr. Truman himself must bear a lot of blame for this result. He knew the mood of Congress long before the critical voting stage was reached. He didn't work hard enough to make out a convincing case—earlier—against the unworkability and possible dangers of the well-advertised registration plan.

Moreover, his own proposals, while useful in dealing with the espionage and sabotage problem, were limited. He offered no really constructive thinking on the great unsolved dilemma: how to curb a group which tries to use the devices of democracy to overturn democracy.

The delicate aspect of this problem is that when you check the undermining activities of Communists, you run the risk of interfering with the legitimate doings of free people. Opponents of the registration plan say it almost surely will lead to abuses on this score, since it may not aways be easy to decide whether an organization is really a Communist front.

But the point is: the new law is an effort to deal with the problem. Mr. Truman made none: he simply tried to minimize it by focusing on sabotage and spying. So he can't escape responsibility for the law he vetoed.

Maybe there's no way out of our dilemma. Perhaps we shall just have to brave it through, hoping our institutions have the basic strength to withstand any inroads the Reds can make.

But if that's the case, we at least should have the satisfaction of knowing our most accomplished thinkers and statesmen believe that. The President ought to put a group of them to work on the problem; no question is more vital to our time.

If they conclude curbs on Reds inevitably will hurt freedom, then Mr. Truman can report their views to the country. He will have done something positive. And the next time he gets a chance to veto legislation of this type, he might be listened to.

More Russian Double Talk

The Russians, when they finally came up with an idea, broadcast to the world that UN forces had attacked in the Inchon-Seoul area to "save face" after humiliating defeats at North Korean hands.

They're a bit late with that notion. If any face-saving had to be done, our G.I.'s did it weeks ago by their brave fighting against tremendous odds of men and material. They stood up against the worst the enemy could throw, and didn't flinch.

At the moment, it would be more proper to inquire what the Russians are doing about saving face. With Seoul recaptured and UN forces slicing the enemy into bits, the North Koreans would seem to be in a rather unhappy position.

It will be interesting to see what verbal parlor tricks Moscow can resort to in order to make this sound like victory for their side.

I Cor. 9:24—27; I Tim. 6:11—12

I WILL NOT LET ANYTHING MASTER ME

The will-to-live is the urge in everything. Everything lifts up strong hands after perfection. The urge for completion is perhaps the most insistent of all urges. Religion is rooted in this life urge—religion is the life urge turned qualitative. We want to live, not merely fully, but better. The will to live may turn into the mere will to power unless ruled by qualitative factors. The will to mastry may become the will to tyranny unless controlled by the will of God.

Paul suggested this will to mastery in these words: "'All things are lawful for me? Yes, but I am not going to let anything master me'." (I Corinthians 6:12, Moffatt.) That phrase, "I am not going to let anything master me," is one of the greatest phrases declaring a life purpose that has ever been uttered. The man who was completely mastered by the will of God said that he would not be mastered by anything. The opposite of that holds good: If you are not mastered by God you will be mastered by things, by yourself, by other persons, by circumstances, by the world, or by sorrows and disappointments.

Take the last two things that master us: the world, and sorrows and disappointments. Some are mastered by the world. It is usually a very slow and silent process. We scarcely know what is happening, but we are slowly mastered by a materialistic outlook. The story goes that a robin was offered a worm for a feather. The bird thought this a good bargain—it would save a lot of hunting for worms and he would not miss a feather. But one dreadful day the robin awoke to the fact that his feathers were gone and he could not fly. He had sold his power to fly for worms. He was earth-bound. The counterpart of that is happening all around us—the powers of soul, the ability to soar, are bartered for physical things. Soon the man is a dead soul surrounded by many things.

Then others are mastered by some bereavement or disappointment. They retreat into the kennel of life like a whipped dog. Life is too much for them. They are beaten. There they give themselves to inward self-pity. The will-to-live has become the will-to-complain-of-life.

O God, apart from Thee I am mastered by this, that, or the other. With Thee I am mastered by nothing—except Thee. Then I am free. Save me from being mastered by any sorrow or disappointment. Help me to rise, like an airplane, against resistance. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Emotional Upsets and Worry Can Cause Abdominal Distress

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

A spastic colon or irritable bowel is undoubtedly one of the most common conditions affecting modern man. This disagreeable disorder seems to be at least partly the result of the tense pace of living today and the nervous strains of our present society.

In a person with an irritable colon, the wave-like motions or peristalsis of the bowel which pushes the waste down the intestines come too close together and force the material along too fast. This usually causes diarrhea for a short time, after which the bowels are empty and will not move merely because there is nothing left there. Consequently people often think that they are constipated; they take a cathartic, and the whole vicious cycle is gone through again.

Those who are affected with an irritable bowel are likely to be on the thin side. They are often overly nervous and emotional. They all know that getting frightened or angry makes their symptoms worse.

Often the intestial waves come so frequently as to cause discomfort and griping in the abdomen. Frequently people feel bloated and notice gurgling sounds. Whenever emotional upsets or worry come along the condition almost always gets worst. This may be followed by a day or two during which the bowels do not move but the abdominal pain may continue. Exposure to cold, various irritating foods, especially raw fruits and vegetables, tend to make the condition worse. Cathartics and laxatives are frequently responsible for setting off an attack.

Those who understand the relation between their nerves and the symptoms of their irritable bowel can also help themselves a great deal by trying to avoid annoyance, worry, and emotional upsets.

Bland Diet Helpful

Even after the disorder seems to be much better some mental or physical upset or some change of diet may bring on another but of trouble. A spastic colon does not lead to cancer or other serious diseases but it does cause a lot of discomfort.

When the condition has not existed too long, treatment is fairly effective. This includes strict avoidance of laxatives and laxative foods such as raw fruits and vegetables. The use of what is called a blind diet consisting largely of cooked cereals, creamed soups, milk products, eggs, fish and other non-irritating substances, and attention to the general health is desirable. If the condition has lasted for a great many years, treatment is complicated, long, and often not completely successful.

One of The Fruits of Victory

By Ruth Millett

To Use That School-Brought Leisure Time, Make a Plan

This is the time of year when the housewife is thanking goodness that the children will soon be back in school.

And many's the housewife you'll hear sigh with relief over the fact that she'll soon have a little time for herself. But you rarely hear one say what she is going to do with that time, once it is hers.

Yet, unless a woman makes a plan, the freedom she gets while the children are in school can be wasted. And her months of having time to do "as she pleases" will give her no more satisfaction than she got out of the summer months when she was tied down.

To begin with, the woman who has no ideal of what she means to do with her time finds other people using it up. Before she realizes what she is doing she has said "Yes" to any number of demands on her leisure, none of which may give her any feeling of real accomplishment or any real pleasure.

Start Planning Now

So if the opening of school gives you some leisure time, start making plans for how you will spend it. Do this before it gets gobbled up by pointless outside activities, by such time-killing pursuits as needlessly long shopping jaunts and time frittered away in the company of people who don't really interest or stimulate you.

Figure out what you really want to do and accomplish during your months of comparative freedom. Then start right away making plans and allotting your time so that you won't let another year slip by with nothing done that you really wanted to do.

Gen. Walker Says 'Freedom is Worth Price We Have to Pay'

munist South Korea by the forces of Communist North Korea—is of course part and parcel of the global conflict between the Communist bloc and the Democracies And small as it is, it represents a highly important development in the ideological conflict.

In Reality a Test

The invasion of South Korea by the Soviet backed North Koreans has been in reality a test case. By using North Korea as a cat's paw Moscow has discovered very conclusively what it takes to make the democracies strike back with force. It was a great gamble, but by keeping well in the background Russia was able to operate without too great risk of becoming directly involved.

A further powerful incentive behind this Red gamble was the fact that if the invasion of South Korea succeeded, and the whole peninsula was Communized, it would be of tremendous propaganda value in the spread of Communism throughout Asia. The Red campaign in the Orient has been swelling, and there are numerous situations developing similar to the Korean case.

Of course Communism is bound to lose some face by its defeat in Korea. This practical demonstration that the peace organization is willing and able to act as well as talk will have a tremendous impact on world opinion.

Thus we see that the South Korean victory is a great gain for the Democracies the world over. And in that sense it is a marked contribution to the defense of the west against Bolshivism. In short, one reason why America has been in this Korean war is to protect herself.

There is still another lesson to be learned. It is a grave warning of future dangers.

President Truman said the other day that the United States mustn't let its guard down, now that the Korean fighting was nearing a victorious close. This was followed by a state department statement of policy which describes Russia as "a power-hungry government that is bent on spreading its power by force, terror."

So wherever and whenever America fights Bolshevist aggression, she is in reality fighting in self defense.

Brothers Meet After 34 Years

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 2 — (AP) — Two long-separated brothers got together yesterday for the first time in 34 years.

Harold S. Knelle, 48, of Milltown, and Henry Cheney, 45, of Runnymede, last saw each other in 1916 in the Methodist Orphans' home in Clayton, Mo. Henry—then known as Henry Knelle—was adopted at the age of 11 by a family named Cheney and taken to Oak Park, Ill.

Harry now operates a printing business in Philadelphia and moved to nearby Runnymede a couple of months ago. Hearing that his brother was living in a nearby community, he located him by means of a telephone book and arranged a reunion.

Davis Wants to Be Citizen Again

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 —(AP)— Garry Davis, the World War II bomber pilot who proclaimed himself "first citizen of the world," now wants to be an American citizen again.

In a letter to U.S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath yesterday, Davis explained his change of sentiment and asked for return of his citizenship at once.

Two years ago in Paris the 29-year old combat veteran gave up his American passport and nationality to dramatize his ideal of a single world community.

Later, abandoning active work for his movement, he came home as an immigrant on a French visa and married Audrey Peters, a Hollywood dance instructor.

In his letter, Davis listed his American birth at Bar Harbor Me., and his war record and honorable discharge.

Laura Bahner Champion 4-H Pie Baker of State of Missouri

Laura Bahner, 19 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bahner, route 2, Sedalia, is the 1950 Cherry Pie Baker champion of Missouri, and she not only can make cherry pies but can cook everything else just as well.

Representing Striped College 4-H club this little dark haired girl went calmly on with the business of making a cherry pie last Saturday morning at the University of Missouri, Columbia, while judges wandered around watching her and nine other girls competing in the contest. The judges were Miss Leta Maharg, home economics teacher at the university, Miss Flora Carl and Miss Jo Flory, nutritionists at the university. But the judges didn't bother Laura. She has had lots of experience in cooking and is food project leader for the 4-H club this year.

The judging was made as follows: 20 percent on appearance of the pie, 30 percent on crust, 30 percent on filling and 20 percent on poise and personality of the contestant. The appearance of the girl and the pie was as good as the crust and the filling, so Laura came out winner.

All-Expense Trip

Now she will go to Chicago on an all expense trip for the national contest, this award being provided by the National Cherry Pie Week committee and she may bring the cherry pie honors back to Pettis county, as the second from the county to be the national cherry pie baker. The first girl from Pettis county was Ruby Hudson of Smithton, who won the championship honors several years ago and through it won a husband.

The contest was not only open to 4-H club girls but to any girl in Missouri between the ages of 15 and 21, with not more than six weeks of college work.

But Laura isn't the only good cook in her family. Her sister, Lillian, won a red ribbon as one of the team from Striped College on food preparation judging. The other girls on the team are Rosella Hunter, who also received a red ribbon, and Alberta Runge, who received a white ribbon. And Mrs. Bahner must be an expert cook herself or she wouldn't have two daughters who could carry off such honors—that training must have started in the home under her direction.

Sharon Johnston of the Lamine club received the blue ribbon for home furnishing, and Ganelle Charles of Elder Ridge, Oak Grove 4-H club, won the white ribbon. Donald Ragar, Ionia 4-H club, was one of five boys out of 13 to receive the blue ribbon for boys' grooming. Betty Jean Klein was high individual in home furnishings and received a blue ribbon.

So, Miss Watkins not only had the champion cherry pie maker in the state, but seven others who won honors.

Still Attracted To Mystery Barrel

SIMMONS, Mo., Oct. 2—(AP)—A water barrel that its owners say never runs dry continues to draw visitors to the Ozark farm of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Orr.

The couple estimates more than 20,000 persons have come here to see the barrel since May 12. On that date they said they discovered that the barrel stayed full though it was supplying a chicken trough with water at the rate of three gallons a day.

Observers have kept 24 hour watches on the barrel, but have found no explanation of its inexhaustibility. There are no springs nearby and rainfall has been slight.

The barrel has been refilled but once and that was two weeks ago when a prankster overturned it.

For Coverage Of City Employes

Jim Reed, fourth ward councilman, having in mind city employes should be covered by social security, as are employes in business plans to present a resolution to the city council at the regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The resolution will ask that the state legislature take action in the matter, so that city employes will pay a portion and the city, state and federal government each a part, toward retirement pay for each person when they reach the age of 65, or payment to beneficiaries in case of death. The amount of pay is based on the person's salary and length of service.

This, however, would not cover city firemen, who are under a pension plan.

Fines And Jail to Careless Drivers

Two motorists who were arrested for driving while drinking were fined $50 each and sentenced to ten days each in the city jail, this morning, by Judge Jerry Trotter in police court. Another charged with careless driving was fined $25.00. All three pleaded guilty.

Rolla Olza Butler, arrested by the State Patrol near Junction of Highway 65 and 50 (west), Saturday, was charged with driving while drinking. Butler gave his address as Kansas City, Missouri.

Wilbur McIntyre, 805 North Missouri avenue, whose car figured in an accident at Pettis street and Osage avenue, pleaded guilty to driving while drinking.

Monroe Gay, 205 East Jefferson street, pleaded guilty to careless driving, and was fined the $25.00 fine. Gay figured in an accident in the 100 block on East Fourteenth street.

McIntyre was the driver of a car which collided with a 1937 Chevrolet sedan of Wilbur Clark, which was parked on Osage avenue. Both cars had damages to the left front fenders, bumper and headlights, and had to be towed to the police parking lot.

This accident occurred at 7:55 o'clock Saturday night.

Gay figured in an accident at the alley in the 100 block on East Fourteenth street, when backing out of an alley his truck hit a car of Delbert L. Williams, 520 South Summit avenue, which was parked. This accident occurred Saturday afternoon.

March of 30 Miles By South Koreans Into Sector of Reds

(Formosa). American imperialism is threatening world peace. I order you to get fully prepared."

Kim Il Sung, Red Korean premier, told Chou in a message Sunday that North Koreans are "firmly resolved to fight to ultimate victory under support of the Chinese people."

Chou expressed the belief that North Korea eventually would win the war.

Broadcasts of the Communist statements were heard in Tokyo.

The South Korean assembly chairman, P. H. Shinicky, dismissed Chou's warning as "only a gesture . . . only barking."

In Formosa, the Chinese Nationalist defense ministry spokesman, Gen. Chang Yi-Ting, scoffed: "Chou cannot decide to do anything. It will all be decided for him in Moscow."

At Lake Success, Russia and Soviet block nations were expected to blast at the border crossing.

Although top U. N. commanders maintained silence, the South Korean drive across the border apparently had official sanction.

Order For Crossing

AP correspondent Hal Boyle reported from the front that the order to cross was given by Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker in a message dropped to the South Korean third division from a small plane.

And in Pusan, South Korea's acting premier, Sihn Sung Mo, told the national assembly Monday: "Shortly you will hear most happy news.

"I heard the happiest news from General Walton H. Walker Saturday. I am very sorry I can not disclose yet what the general said."

Boyle reported the South Korean Third division crossed the border 15 minutes before the first broadcast of MacArthur's surrender ultimatum at noon Sunday Korean time (9 p. m. Saturday, CST).

The U. N. commander demanded surrender "at once" and immediate release of "all United Nations prisoners of war and civilian internees."

The alternative, MacArthur has warned, is "further useless shedding of blood and destruction of property."

Correspondent Boyle said South Korean Third division advance units speared to the edge of Kansong, 30 air miles north of the border along the east coast highway.

He quoted Capt. Borden Wright of Oakland, Calif., liaison officer as saying the entire Third division and two regiments of the South Korean capital division were across the border.

Wright said the South Korean Sixth division was on the border 60 miles inland. This was his account, as reported by Boyle:

The Third division smashed early Monday into Yangyang, seven miles north of the border. Nroth Korean troops fled so hurriedly that their field radio still were tuned for instructions. They did not wait long enough to pack their blankets, a vital need in the sharpening fall nights.

North Korean prisoners said the Red Second security brigade and remnants of two divisions had fled north toward Wonsan.

The prisoners said their orders were to go to Wonsan, the heavily bombed east coast port and oil center, where the Reds were organizing to make a stand.

Three battalions of the Second Security brigade were ordered to make delaying stands at Kansong, Kosong and Changjon, the prisoners said.

Kosong is 22 miles and Changjon 30 miles north of Kansong, on the coastal highway.

Field observers expressed a belief the Reds had only a few weapons left and could not make a strong stand south of Wonsan.

An air force spokesman in Tokyo said B-29s, attacking in front of advancing friendly forces, were pushing their bombline north every six hours to keep pace.

The mop-up campaign continued in South Korea where there were fresh reports of Red Korean atrocities.

AP correspondent Bem Price reported the bodies of 1,100 South Korean civilians had been found in Taejon. Authorities estimated the toll of South Koreans killed Wednesday and Thursday night might mount as high as 6,000.

Among the dead were 30 American soldiers and more bodies were being uncovered.

Deeper Dip Out Of Paychecks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Government is taking a deeper bite out of all paychecks from now on.

New federal income tax withholding rates went into effect yesterday. That means more than 25,000,000 American workers will find the withholding taxes taken out of their next paychecks about a fifth greater.

The bigger "take" from paychecks is needed to keep taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis under the tax boosts voted by congress to provide money for the country's big defense build-up.

Individual income taxes were raised by an estimated $2,700,000,000 a year. Taxes on corporations were also hiked.

The withholding payments taken out of paychecks are prepayments toward each individual's final tax bill for this year, due by March 15. As in past years, some individuals will have refunds coming to them from the government. Others will have to fork up some more cash to settle their final tax. But the withholding payments are designed to come close to the actual amount due.

Floating Mines Of 'Russian Type'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Admiral Forest Sherman said today U. S. Navy ships off Korea have found "a great many floating mines" of Russian type.

Sherman, the cheif of naval operations, told the house armed services committee an examination of recovered mines indicated they had been "recently laid and not long out of the storehouse."

On last Wednesday, the U. S. destroyer Brush hit a floating mine and a hole was torn in her bottom. Nine men were killed, 10 injured, and five are missing. The destroyer was able to make her way to a Japaneses port.

Sherman said the mines recovered were "Mark 26" Russian mines. He described them as a rather standard type and containing enough explosives to damage small ships.

He said they were of the moored type, but that indications were they had been floated down rivers or perhaps laid by small craft.

Sherman said that in addition to the destroyer Bush there has been mine damage to a small vessel.

He did not identify the ship but said there were some fatalities.

North Korea Has No 'Subs'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—Adm. Forrest P. Sherman was asked at a congressional hearing today whether the Navy has seen any submarines off Korea. He replied only that the Navy knows North Korea has no submarines.

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) asked the question at a meeting of the House Armed Services committee. Sherman, chief of naval operations, was before the group discussing the Navy's expansion plans.

Later, a reporter told Sherman there had been published reports that a U.S. destroyer had "probably" sunk a Russian submarine off Korea. Sherman said he could not comment on that.

Columnist Robert S. Allen said in his syndicated column that there had been such an incident.

At the Pentagon, officials told reporters in response to questions that they knew nothing about it.

Fined on Check Charge

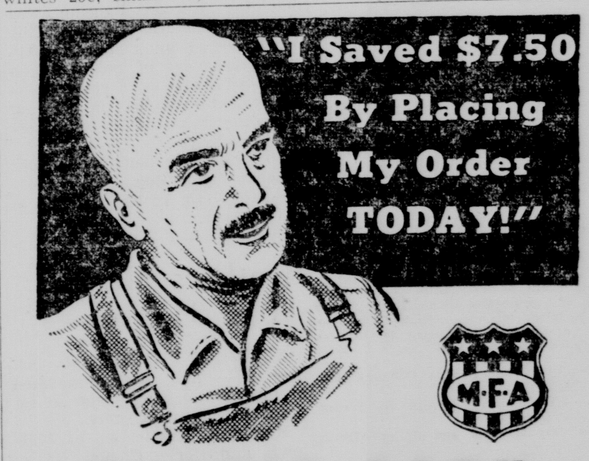

John W. Asher, Warsaw, charged with giving a bad check to the Kern Insurance Co., St. Louis for $110.31, pleaded guilty to Acting Magistrate John C. McCloskey, and was fined $25.00 and costs, plus paying off the check.

Farm Forum At Columbia Nov. 20-21

Programs At Agriculture Meet To Be Discussed

The program for the second annual Farm Forum at the University of Missouri, November 20 and 21 is announced in detail today by Dean John H. Longwell of the College of Agriculture.

Two topics of public policy will be discussed. That of the first day, Monday, will be the Missouri River Basin Program of Conservation and Development. On Tuesday, the topic will be Agricultural Programs. The program is as follows:

Monday, November 20

9:30 Introduction and welcome by Dean J. H. Longwell.

9:40 The Need for and Objectives of a Missouri Basin Development Program, Gladwyn Young, Lincoln, Nebr., Coordinator for Inter-Agency Committee on Basin Program.

10:25 Recess.

10:35 The Proposed Missouri Basin (Pick-Sloane) Development, Brig. General S. D. Sturgis, Jr., Engineer in charge, Omaha, District, for U. S. Army.

11:25 The Concern of Missouri Basin Agriculture in this Development, Dean I. B. Johnson, South Dakota Agricultural College.

12:30 Dinner Hour.

2:00 Roundtable on the Missouri Basin Problem. Moderator: Ex-Governor Phil Donnelly with speakers of the morning session and comments and discussion from the floor.

4:00 Adjournment.

Tuesday, November 21

9:30 The Need for and Objectives of Agricultural Adjustment. Dr. Lynn Robertson, professor of agricultural economics, Purdue University.

10:15 What Agricultral Adjustment Programs Have Accomplished, Chester C. Davis, president St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank.

11:00 Recess.

11:10 The Problem of the Underemployed Farm Family in Agricultural Adjustment, Miss Mena Hogan, Washington, D. C. Home Economist, Agricultural Extension Service.

12:00 Dinner Hour.

1:30 Economic Aspects of Agricultural Adjustment, Dr. T. W. Schultz, Professor of Agricultural Economics, University of Chicago.

2:30 Roundtable. Moderator: Director J. W. Burch, Missouri Agricultural Extension Service, with speakers of the morning program and questions and comments from the floor.

4:00 Adjournment.

"I believe the Balanced Farming Program is a good thing for those who have the finances to do the things recommended by the Balanced Farming Association. I do not have the finances to do these things." This statement is frequently made.

How fast this program is put into effect depends upon the operator. He may be in a financial condition to move fast toward the goal he sets up. Again he may find it necessary to go slowly.

The Association helps in either case to get value for what he spends. Every farmer has many choices as to how to spend his money. All farmers securing a substantial income find it necessary to spend sizable amounts of money. His problem is to decide what he will spend it for. The association helps him to make a wiser decision.

Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Is this your farm?

Most of the readers of the Democrat-Capital have been following this series of weekly Mystery Farm Pictures with considerable interest.

The pictures that appear in this space in Monday's Democrat and Tuesday morning's Capital were taken sometime ago by an aerial photographer. The pictures were not shot with the knowledge of whose farm it was. It was a random job; a picture here and a picture there.

To date there have been over sixty-two Mystery Farm Pictures published, most of which have been claimed by the occupants and owners of the various farms. Yours may be next. Watch for it!

If you see your farm in the Mystery Farm space, come in and claim your picture at the Democrat-Capital news room on the second floor of the Democrat-Capital building. No strings attached; it's yours for the asking.

Sisler's Homer Gets Flag For The Whiz Kids

Snaps Tie in Tenth as the Crowd Cheers

By Joe Reichler

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2—(AP)—Their first pennant in 35 years safely stowed away, the Philadelphia Phillies today planned to shoot the works against the highly favored New York Yankees in the world series starting Wednesday.

Unless he has a change of heart, Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phils will open with Robin Roberts, 4-1 conqueror of the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday in the game that gave the Whiz Kids the National League flag. Roberts will be opposed by Allie Reynolds in a battle of righthanders.

Having cinched the American League pennant last Friday, the well-rested Yankees will rule 2-1 favorites over the tired Phils.

Rose-cheeked Robin undoubtedly pitched the greatest game of his life yesterday. However, he knew he was in a battle with Brooklyn's Don Newcombe. If Dick Sisler hadn't hit that homer with two on in the top of the 10th to snap a 1-1 tie, the game might be going on yet.

The blow by Sisler, son of the immortal George who acts as Brooklyn's head scout, ended Brooklyn's "miracle" finish that for a time threatened to throw the race into another flat-footed last day tie.

Although Roberts yielded but five blows to 11 for Newcombe, he had to summon all his wile and cunning to hold off a Brooklyn bases-loaded threat in the ninth that appeared destined to bring about the Phillies' sixth straight defeat.

Crowd Demonstrates

A crowd of 35,073, biggest of the year at Ebbets Field, went into hysterics as Cal Abrams led off the last of the ninth with a walk and took second on a single by Pee Wee Reese.

That brought up Duke Snider, the best lefthanded hitter on the club. With everyone expecting a bunt, Snider teed off and slashed a line single to center. Abrams attempted to score from second but Richie Ashburn made a one-handed scoop of the ball and threw on the run to the plate. The ball came on a good hop right into Stan Lopata's hands. Abrams didn't have a chance and was tagged standing up.

Then it was the Phillies turn. Roberts opened with a single to center. Eddie Waitkus blooped another single to center. Ashburn, attempting to sacrifice, bunted into a force play at third. That set the stage for Sisler's game-winning clout.

In other final games of the National League season, the New York Giants defeated the Boston Braves, 5-1; Chicago edged St. Louis 3-2 in 11 innings and the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds divided a doubleheader. The Reds won the opener, 3-2, and the Pirates the nightcap 3-1.

The Boston Red Sox trounced a bunch of New York Yankee scrubbs, 7-3, Cleveland downed Detroit, 7-5; Philadelphia beat Washington, 5-3, and Chicago and St. Louis divided a doubleheader. The White Sox won the opener, 4-3, and the Browns the final, 10-6.

Goodman is Batting 'Champ'

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—(AP)—Billy Goodman, brilliant handyman of the Boston Red Sox, is the new American League batting champion.

The 24-year old Concord, N.C., star won his first league batting title on an average of .354 to succeed George Kell, the Detroit Tigers' 1949 batting king.

His unofficial average is eight points better than that of Stan Musial, big gun of the St. Louis Cardinals who won his fourth National League batting title.

On the heels of Kell, who had .340, were Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .326, and Phil Rizzuto, New York, and Larry Doby, Cleveland, each with .324.

Musial Holds Batting Honors

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—Stan Musial, the "ball player's ball player" of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the National League's batting champion for the fourth time in his illustrous career.

The belting beauty of the Red Birds finished the 1950 season yesterday with an unofficial average of .346 to win the crown by 18 points from Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, the defending titlist, wound up at .328.

Musial is only the third batter in the long history of the league to win more than three batting championships. The other two are hall of famers Honus Wagner of Pittsburgh and Rogers Hornsby of the Cards and Boston. Wagner won eight and Hornsby seven.

Miami Beach will be host to the fourth annual Orange Bowl boys and girls tennis tournament during Christmas vacation time.

Drop in Ball Attendance

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—Major league baseball drew 17,226,824 fans during the 1950 season, a drop of 15 per cent from 1949 according to an unofficial survey by the Associated Press.

The National League lured 8,025,169 customers and the American 9,201,655 during the campaign which ended yesterday. In 1949 9,484,718 fans patronized National League games and 10,730,647 American League contests for a two-league total of 20,215,365. The National League attendance in 1950 was off 16 per cent and the American 14 per cent.

Philadelphia's pennant-winning Phillies, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and New York drew over a million this year. Only Philadelphia and Cincinnati failed to draw a million in 1949.

The American League champion New York Yankees, Detroit, Ceveland and Boston were the only American League clubs to draw more than a million fans this season. The same teams also were the only ones to draw a million in 1949.

The Phillies, Detroit and the St. Louis Browns were the only clubs to better their 1949 attendance, the Phils zooming to a new record with 1,217,080. Cleveland fell off 511,736 and the Philadelphia A's dropped 506,429. Brooklyn took the biggest dip in the National — 448,648 paid admissions.

Cats Kill Fewer Birds Than Most People Realize

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 1—(Special)—Folks who believe the house cats are mainly birders may get a shock from the results of the anaylsis of 41 stomachs, mostly of highway-killed cats, by Leroy Korschgen, conservation commission food-habits investigator.

Contents of the stomachs, in per cent by volume, were: Mice, 38.1 per cent; rabbit, 25.6; cotton rat, 9.0; table scraps, 6.9; quail, 4.6; terrapin, 2.7; rat, 2.4; pig, 2.4; grasshopper, 1.9; undetermined meat, 1.8; chicken, 1.5. Some of this, of course, was carrion.

All of the quail (parts of three birds) came from a single cat killed while stalking young quail but no meat identified as songbird could be found in any of the stomachs. Rats and mice made up a total of 49.5 per cent of the cats' diet.

Korschgen said that this isn't enough material to form a basis of policy on house cats, but the high percentage of rodents and the absence of songbirds are enough to give food for thought, including the suspicion that "once a mouser, always a mouser" may well define the cat.

Another predator often accused of "birding" is the great horned owl. The volume of birds found in stomachs of several owls was only 6 per cent while rabbit made up 84 per cent.

Sweet Springs Beat Sedalia Flyers 9-5

The Sedalia Flyers were defeated Sunday afternoon by the Sweet Springs shoe factory team 9 to 5 in a game played at Sweet Springs. The winning pitcher was Meadon while May was the losing pitcher for the Flyers.

Krause and Johnson of the Flyers were the leading hitters, Krause getting three hits out of five times at bat, while Johnson had two out of four.

The Flyers lineup was McCoy, c; Krause, 2b; Ford, cf; May, p; Johnson, 3b; Vickers, ss; Forbis, 1b; Kelly, lf and Buckly, rf.

Regulations on VA Tuition Pay

Saturday, September 30, the Veterans Administration issued regulations affecting the amount of tuition it will pay to thousands of schools training World War II veterans under the GI Bill and Public Law 16.

Schools which have had one or more tuition contracts for a period of more than 12 months will continue to receive payments at the rate of the last contract—without the need for further negotiations with VA.

The new regulations apply to schools offering courses of any length, whether they be short, intensive courses of less than 30 weeks, or courses lasting longer than that period of time.

The VA regulations do not apply to courses in non-profit institutions of higher learning, institutional on-farm training courses or correspondence courses contracted for under either the GI Bill or Public Law 16 (for the disabled).

For schools having "frozen" tuition rates under recently enacted Public Law 610, today's regulations affect only the period between the date of their last GI Bill contract and July 13, 1950, effective date of the new issue.

Where books, supplies and equipment costs are an integral part of a school's institution rate, the regulations authorize VA to include these costs in the rate it will pay for veteran students.

Philadelphia is Wild After Victory by the Phillies

Injured Writer To be at Series

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2—(AP)—Joe Williams, New York sports columnist injured in a plane crash Saturday night, is scheduled to be released from White Cross hospital this afternoon.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun writer said he would return immediately to New York "in time for the first game of the world series."

Yankees Set Up as Favorites To Take Series

Absence of Curt Simmons Blow To The Phillies

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—Yankee home run power and superior pitching set up the American League champions as to 2 to 5 favorites to whip the eager Philadelphia Whiz Kids in the world series opening Wednesday at Shibe Park.

Everybody is feeling sorry for the Phillies, who barely scraped home with the pennant by beating Brooklyn, 4-1, in 10 innings yesterday after blowing most of a big lead. That may be a fatal mistake.

It reminds you too much of 1942 when the underdog St. Louis Cardinals upset the same Yankees and almost ran them out of the ball park. The Phils do not have that same dazzling speed but they do have the old college try and a manager in Eddie Sawyer who will exploit it to the utmost.

Despite the odds stacked against the pitcher-poor Phils, the pick here goes to the underdogs from Philadelphia in six games with Jim Konstanty taking the bows. Put it down as a hunch, for the figures don't back it up.

Look at the pitching first. For that's where a short best-of-seven series usually is decided.

Casey Stengel's Yanks have four regulars fit and ready—Allie Reynolds (16-12) to start, Vic Raschi (21-8) for the second game, lefty Eddie Lopat (18-8) for the third game and rookie Ed (Whitey) Ford (9-1) for the fourth. Any one of these reasonably can be expected to go the route.

Back of the starters, Stengel is not as deep as he was last year against Brooklyn.

The Phils have one solid man in Robin Roberts (20-11), the club's first 20-game winner since the days of Grover Cleveland Alexander. Loss of Curt Simmons (17-8) their southpaw ace who left for the Army Sept. 9, was a numbing blow to the Phils. Bob Miller (11-6), Bubba Church (8-6) and Russ Meyer (9-11) are potential starters with Ken Heintzelman (3-9), a crafty lefthander, a "sleeper" who may give the Yanks trouble.

Back of Roberts, the Phils' real ace is relief man Konstanty (16-7) who set a modern major league record by appearing in 74 games. Strictly a stuff pitcher with a fine slider and palm ball, he represents the Phils' best chance to win the series.

Kirkwood Wins The Ozark Open

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 2—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, Jr., edged out defending champion Dave Douglas to win the Ozark Open golf tournament yesterday and pocket $1,000.

Kirkwood of Hollywood, Calif., had a 54-hole total of 201, 18 strokes under par. Douglas of Newark, Del., turned in the best round of the day — a 64 on the final 18 holes — but wound up with a 205 total.

Second place was worth $750 in the $5,000 tournament.

Four golfers were tied for third at 207. They were Wally Ulrich, Austin, Minn.; Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C.; Bob Toski, Northhampton, Mass., and Ed Furgol, Royal Oak, Mich.

Jimmy Jackson of St. Louis was the low amateur. He won the honor in a sudden death playoff with Bo Wininger of Stillwater, Okla., after they tied with 219.

The Teen-Age Blues Defeat 'Old Timers'

Win the Benefit Game 22 to 12 at Housel Park

The "Old Timers," most of whom are still not too old to play ball, were given a 22 to 12 beating Sunday afternoon by the Sedalia Teen-Age Blues in a game played at Housel park. Sunday night there were plenty of aches and pains suffered by a large number of the "Old Boys," who tried to take a turn at playing baseball after several years on the sidelines.

Fun And Frolic

The game, which was fun and frolic for the players, proved a full afternoon of entertainment for the filled grandstand. Most of the old time players displayed they still have a little of the old baseball play left in them.

Harlan Hayden, L. White and Slocum pitched for the opponents of the Teen-Agers with Steele, Ryan, White and Thomas doing the receiving. Smith was on the mound for the Teen-Agers and did a nice job of scattering the hits and giving the Old Timers a chance to show their hitting ability.

Claude White Trapped

Junior Brown and "Doc" Snaveley had two hits to lead the hitting for the "Old Timers." Wayne Martin doubled for their only extra base hit. Claude White furnished the wildest running in the game when caught between third base and home plate. The Teen-Agers kept him trapped and ran him back and forth so many times he finally gave up in desperation.

Bill Watson of the Blues had four hits, while Joe Fisher, Eldon Lees and C. A. Smith each collected three.

Sam Watson called the balls and strikes while Marion Scott handled the base umpiring.

New York Downs Famous Browns

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—With powerhouses like the Cleveland Browns, Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears stumbling about, National Football League fans can expect a gory free-for-all for 1950 honors.

Take awesome Cleveland. The mighty Browns were proved mighty human yesterday by the New York Giants. Four-time winners of the All-America conference and headed toward a similar distinction this year, the Clevelanders fell before New York's crushing defense, 6 to 0, in a startling upset.

It was the first shutout ever inflicted upon the Browns. A crowd of 37,647 saw them miss paydirt for the first time in 3,660 minutes of league play.

Meanwhile, at Green Bay, Wis., the Packers rose to great heights in defeating their ancient and bitter rivals, the Bears, by 31 to 21.

The Packers, 14-point underdogs, turned two interceptions and a punt return into touchdowns in the third period, and the bears never recovered.

In other action yesterday, the Los Angeles Rams whipped San Francisco's 49ers, 35 to 14, and Pittsburgh stunned Washington, 26 to 7, to complete an afternoon of three upsets.

Fifteen stakes — the most in winter racing—again have been scheduled for Hialeah's 40-day race meeting.

Price Support On Pasture Seeds

Price support is available on hay and pasture seeds through Commodity Credit corporation loans or purchase agreements, reports Jas. A. Harvey, chairman of the local PMA county committee.

Of particular interest to Pettis county farmers may be the fact that this price support is available on red clover. The loan rate on red clover testing 98 percent purity and 90 percent germination is 35c per pound. Seed testing less than 97 percent purity and 84 percent germination is ineligible for loan. These loans or purchase agreements are available from time of harvest through January 31, 1951 and will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1951.

In preparation for loans, producers should have their seed cleaned to make it possible to meet the purity requirement and the seed should be stored in some manner on the farm to protect it from damage by rodents and weather. It has been suggested that seed may be stored in a metal tank in a granary or some other protected building if the quantity is not too great. Upon notification at the PMA office that a loan is desired, the loan inspector will call at the farm to obtain a representative sample of the seed for testing to determine eligibility for loan under the purity and germination requirements.

The Pettis county committee will be glad to have producers call at their office for further details on the hay and pasture seed price support program.

Legumes And Grass For Feed

With currently adequate stockpiles of many food crops, farmers of Pettis County may well start this fall to redouble their efforts to stockpile plant food reserves in the soil, advised the Pettis County PMA committee.

They suggested that one of the first and most important means of doing this is to use grass and legumes to increase the organic matter in the soil. Not only do these sod crops protect the land against erosion, but they improve the structure of the soil. Elements taken up by these plants are held for use in the production of other crops when the grass and legumes are plowed under.

The committee also pointed out that legumes in pastures and hay crops or in cover and green manure crops help build up the reserves of nitrogen in the soil. In the committee's opinion, with the likelihood that more synthetic nitrogen will be diverted to military needs, it becomes increasingly more important for farmers to use nature's way of keeping up the soil's nitrogen content.

To stimulate the growth of cover and pasture crops and speed up the stockpiling of plant food reserves, the committee suggested that farmers may well increase the applications of lime, phosphate, and potash in soils where these materials are needed and to get their supplies this fall. Later, more railroad cars may be needed for military purposes and transportation facilities may not be as readily available as at present.

The committee also pointed out that many practices in the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program are designed to aid farmers in building up their soil reserves. They suggest a visit with the local PMA committeeman or a call at the county office for details of practices for which program assistance is available.

Unwrap meat as soon as it comes from the market; never wash it before storing it in the refrigerator. Before you use it wipe it off with a damp cloth.

"Dry heat" when applied to meat cooking, means roasting, pan broiling, or broiling. Meat cuts that are tender and contain little connective tissue are the ones most successfully cooked by the dry heat method.

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Edith Flood, the former Ede Frey, under terms of her father's will, heads Frey & Company, an advertising agency. So far, the agency has surmounted its many troubles, and Ede has been keeping her family, Jeff and Myron, brothers, and sister Jenn, in line. But Peter Flood, Ede's husband, has gone to Reno to get a divorce. Driving home with Dan Reagan, one of her executives, Ede tells him this. Dan reveals that he is in love with Ede and wants to marry her. Ede has not yet given her final answer.

• • •

XXV

HAD this happened five years ago, Ede thought suddenly, the answer would have been easy. Then the bare idea of Miss Edith Frey, New York society girl, and Daniel Reagan, exigent hard-bitten young fellow from the wrong side of the tracks, would have been ludicrous. But time changes things, alters and softens judgments and values.

She forced herself to meet Reagan's glittering challenging eyes. "Honestly, Dan, I don't know. I like your friendship. And I—I've come to depend on you, more than you realize, perhaps. But anything else . . . well, I just don't know, that's all."

His reaction took her completely by surprise.

"Why don't you say it?" he said almost savagely. "Why don't you come straight out with it and give me the works? Tell me that we come from two different worlds? That it's presumptuous of me even to consider such a thing?" He laughed harshly. "Me? Imagine me getting this far out of bounds."

Ede said, quietly, "Please stop, Dan. I don't like it."

"You don't like . . ." He checked himself. "I'm sorry," he muttered.

"You should be. You're too good to say things like that, Dan Reagan. What does it matter where you come from, or where I come from, either? It's what we are now that counts. You insult my intelligence when you suggest that anything else would weigh with me."

"I'm sure," Reagan said, rather stiffly, "that I didn't mean to insult you."

She put a hand on his arm. "Of course, you didn't. Let's forget it. And as for the—the other thing"—her voice dropped—"can't we just let it ride?"

"Meaning?" His eyes seemed to burn into hers.

"Meaning, Dan, that I told you the truth a moment ago. I just don't know. I want time. To—to think."

Reagan's left hand covered hers for a moment. The pressure of his big fingers almost hurt.

"Fair enough," he said finally. "But, remember, you haven't said 'No.' So I suppose I can dream, can't I?"

And Ede said, with a troubled little smile, "I can't stop you from dreaming, Dan."

• • •

EDE was eternally grateful to Dan Reagan for his attitude during the next few weeks. She had scarcely dared hope that he would make things so easy for her. But Reagan, she discovered somewhat to her surprise, had unsuspected sensitivity. He did not allude again to the incident that had taken place overlooking the Hudson. He seemed to regard the matter as closed, until such time as Ede herself cared to reopen it. Quite naturally, they drifted back into their former, and slightly formal, business relationship. And only once in a while, when she was aware of Reagan's eyes on her their usual glitter replaced by a soft blue light, was Ede reminded that Dan Reagan was in love with her and that some day she would have to give him an answer.

And then she heard from Reno. The divorce had been made absolute. Peter Flood was out of her life, forever. But when the news came Ede had no time to conjure with the fascinating thought that she was once again a free woman.

Old Mr. Lyons of the Lyons Bread Company had gone on the rampage of his career.

For once Reagan could make no headway with the testy and mealy-mouthed old gentleman. Mr. Lyons, apparently, was on an unprecedented spree of campaign-killing and he refused to be thwarted. In vain Reagan argued, high-pressured, bullied even. Mr. Lyons replied with threats and hints of dire steps that he might take at any moment. He held the possible removal of his account over the agency like a club.

Meanwhile nothing that Frey & Company evolved seemed to suit him. Stoneham and the copy group worked their hearts out. Pat Vernon made and remade layouts by the score, only to have them junked with discouraging rapidity.

• • •

FOR this intolerable situation Reagan assumed entire responsibility. "It's my fault," he told Ede ruefully. "I rammed that newspaper campaign down his throat a few weeks ago and I shouldn't have done it. He didn't like the series and he's been laying for us ever since."

Ede smiled. "How do things stand now?" she asked.

"Not so good. Chuck and Pat—they're both dead on their feet, by the way—are getting up two more campaigns. One we believe in and the other's an alternate, to have up our sleeve. We're going to see Lyons again Friday." He sighed wearily. "And I suppose it'll be the same old story."

"You honestly feel that we've made every effort, don't you, Dan? We've done the best we could to give Lyons what he ought to have?"

Reagan nodded. "Even beyond that. When he wouldn't take what he ought to have, we scrapped our sacred principles and tried to give him what we thought he wanted. That didn't work either. He doesn't seem to know what he wants."

"That," said Ede, "is all I have to know."

Doing Water Management

Several members of the 1950 Balanced Farming Association are now doing water management work and renovating permanent pastures. They include: D. M. Overstreet and Bill Zinn of Sedalia; Route 5, on whose farm a contractor has built a large outlet to protect 40 acres and has built the terraces on another 40 acres. A neighbor, Wm. J. Lamm has built several thousand feet of terraces with a large disc or one-way plow. C. W. Finley of Route No. 2, is building terraces with a plow. A contractor built some terraces there earlier.

A third contractor recently built three outlets on the Fred Harsch farm north of Smithton and several terraces on the C. S. Arnold farm west of Hughesville.

Seven outlets were built and seeded recently on the Ivan Berry farm near Lake Tebo, southwest of Sedalia by a fourth contractor.

Arrangements have been made with various contractors to do work yet this fall on the farms of D. P. Dyer, Sedalia, Joseph M. Elliott, Fairfax Brothers, Route No. 2, Sedalia, Mrs. J. H. Frederich, Route No. 4, Sedalia, Riley Lee, Beaman, Clarence Shireman, Houstonia, E. W. Thompson-Jesse Dowdy, Sedalia, and Dr. A. L. Walters, Sedalia.

Frank Van Dyke has recently seeded 12 acres of new permanent pasture, Dr. Dyer 16 acres, Roy Petty 7 acres, John Ryon 12 acres, Wm. Sawford 9 acres, T. W. Cloney 3 acres, Fred Harsch 5 acres, and Ivan Berry 8 acres. Practically all of this has been treated with 1,000 lbs. of rock phosphate per acre, limed according to soil needs, top dressed with a good starter fertilizer and seeded to high type legumes and grasses including ladino clover and orchard grass or fescue.

Mrs. Margaret Blair, 1057 D. East Oregon St., Evansville, Ind., says her husband and three children keep her busy from morning 'til night. It wasn't too long ago that Mrs. Blair thought she had more work than she could handle—said she was tired and nervous all the time but today, thanks to HADACOL, her housework is like a breeze because her system was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Blair's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL I was nervous, underweight and had trouble sleeping. My food did not agree with me. Seemed like I was jumpy and irritable all the time. My back bothered me a lot and I couldn't sleep, and when I did doze off at night, I would wake up in the morning feeling like I hadn't had a drop of rest. My mother noticed how bad I looked and she suggested I take HADACOL. After I started taking HADACOL I began to notice a difference right away. Now I sleep swell — my nerves are steady, my disposition is 100% better and I actually enjoy my food. Life certainly is wonderful—now that I am taking HADACOL.

Get the Wonderful HADACOL Feeling

Yes, do as thousands of other folks have done who have had trouble with indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings") after meals, as well as that general run-down condition, if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

HADACOL is being recommended by many doctors. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because it acts directly to relieve the cause of your trouble when due to such deficiencies. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

There Is Only One HADACOL

Don't go through life suffering such fiendish torture from your stomach, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There is only one true and genuine HADACOL.
